“GoToMeeting looks polished and inventive.”

— PC World

As organizations expand geographically and communication barriers disappear thanks to technological advances, enterprises have myriad choices for providing communication tools to their workforces. The business climate has never been more competitive, so it's imperative to find solutions that directly impact the bottom line. Organizations need to ensure that employee productivity remains high and that communication with customers stays strong by investing in online meeting and collaboration tools. However, high costs, complex products and low employee adoption are typically associated with these investments, prohibiting many businesses from justifying the purchase of an online meeting solution – until now.

GoToMeeting Corporate enables individuals and organizations to easily meet and present information online, significantly improving communication to anyone, anywhere in the world. The most accessible and easily managed online meeting and collaboration product on the market, GoToMeeting Corporate gives organizations a significant competitive advantage by helping them become more flexible than they ever imagined. Users can deliver presentations, collaborate on documents, perform product demonstrations and safely share confidential information from anywhere, at any time.

Because GoToMeeting Corporate is extremely easy to implement and manage, it reduces the total cost of ownership for organizations of all sizes. No pre-installation or configuration by meeting organizers or participants is necessary, and GoToMeeting Corporate is the only online meeting product that is encrypted end-to-end using 128-bit AES encryption to ensure that login information and meeting data remain secure. The secure, Web-based Administration Center provides a central point of control and real-time usage reports to facilitate easy management of GoToMeeting Corporate.

INCREASE PRODUCTIVITY

Optimize customer presentations, business planning meetings, staff meetings and training sessions, regardless of where participants are located.

REDUCE OPERATIONAL COSTS

Decrease travel and customer acquisition expenses — employees spend time maximizing revenue opportunities rather than traveling or waiting in airports.

SIMPLIFY MEETING SETUP

Meeting organizers and attendees can begin communicating in seconds.

BOOST SALES

Increase sales by enhancing interaction with and providing better satisfaction to customers, partners and prospects.

MAXIMIZE ROI

Experience a faster and greater ROI than with other online meeting solutions. Not only is GoToMeeting Corporate used more frequently by more employees, which increases productivity throughout your organization, but it also delivers All You Can Meet™ pricing to maximize your online meeting investment with every use.

PRICING

GoToMeeting Corporate is the only product with distinctive All You Can Meet™ pricing that makes it easy for every employee to host frequent online meetings. GoToMeeting Corporate is priced so your business can use it more without paying more, offering a new level of value and ROI never before achievable. There are no restrictions on usage, so individuals can meet as often and for as long as they like and gain maximum productivity from the solution. An accurate invoice with a predictable fee comes standard with every GoToMeeting Corporate purchase, an unprecedented service in the industry.

WHY USE GOTOMEETING CORPORATE?

GoToMeeting Corporate can be deployed to almost any business unit within the organization because, thanks to All You Can Meet™ pricing, product-usage restrictions and unpredictable costs are no longer issues. The ability of individuals from sales, marketing, finance, IT and executive management to benefit from the value of online meetings is a powerful advantage that can now be realized and measured. Several common usage scenarios for GoToMeeting Corporate include:

- During a cold call, a salesperson conducts an impromptu PowerPoint presentation with your prospective customer.
- A remote team reviews and alters an important presentation, then schedules a subsequent online meeting to conduct a trial run of the presentation.
- Corporate trainers provide weekly product training sessions for both customers and employees.
- Remote employees collaborate on a document or spreadsheet with staff located at the central office during a scheduled weekly meeting.
- Your financial team members collaborate and review sensitive documentation with each other, as well as with clients, employees, investors and financial analysts.

THE GOTOMEETING CORPORATE DIFFERENCE

- Easiest to Use — The streamlined interface makes it extremely easy for presenters and their online meeting attendees to meet right away.
- Most Cost Effective — With All You Can Meet™ pricing, there are no limits on meeting duration or frequency and no “overage” charges. As a result, your users meet more often and increase their productivity. Deployment in minutes minimizes IT operational costs.
- Most Secure — Industry-standard security features ensure that confidential meeting information remains private. Security is built in, with no additional configuration necessary.
- Easiest to Manage — The feature-rich Administration Center is simple to use and requires no end-user training or configuration.
